Here I am again talking to myself sitting at a red light both hands on the wheel how am I sposed to feel so much running through my mind first you say you need me now you want to leave me giving me signals and signs so put the pedal down heading out of town

How can I be sure you wont break my heart if I take you back because it seems I am always at a red light

You are really bad ur a pig that can't make up his mind

Do you really love me or don't you I can't stand it any more

Because here I am again talking to myself sitting at a red light both hands on the wheel how am I sposed to feel so much running through my mind first you say you need me now you want to leave me giving me signals and sings so put the pedal down heading out of town going to get away again

First you say you need me now you want to leave me!
