Took too much of this, had too much of that
But with you I never got enough
I thought there'd never be love in my life and that's sad
'Cause when I think what I could've had, it makes me feel so bad

I smoked a lot of sky, drank a lot of rain
Anything to ease my pain
But now your touch is all it would take
And that's a shame 'cause I can never come home again

And you're a million miles away
I'll never get a chance to hold you
So my message is the wind
I pray that it gets through to you

Loving you was so easy
And leaving you was so very hard
And now I live in this ocean of blue
In a corner of a prison yard, I should have listened to you

Now you're a million miles away
I'll never get a chance to hold you

Please don't be thinking of me
Please don't be thinking of me
Please don't be thinking of me
Please just forget about me
