My heart paints a melody left behind for me.
There might not've been an eternity for the two of us, but

I'm sure we can become happy!
Overflowing from my heart's piano...

Is the aquamarine melody.
Look at the twinkling sky as it melts away.
Until the sound of the last wave's crash vanishes
Just keep on looking only at me.
Because you're someone I love, there are things I just can't say.
The feelings I can't fully convey to you, I now
Ride upon, singing in soprano,

Within the sunlight, like an angel dancing down from the heavens.
I musn't look to the sky of the past, but

Tomorrow, the first sound of the waves will shimmer
Just like a handbell.

The aquamarine fragments of our memories and even tears will melt in the wind.
And the sound of the waves in my heart won't vanish.
Because that's where only our memories lie.
Even like rain on a sunny day, when there are times
when sadness will occur
There's no way I'll lose to my destiny.
I've given forth all my love, and in soprano

Is the aquamarine melody.
Look at the twinkling sky as it melts away.
Until the sound of the last wave's crash vanishes
Just keep on looking only at me.
Because you're someone I love, there are things I just can't say.
The feelings I can't fully convey to you, I now
Ride upon, singing in soprano
