You wear your shirt tucked in
Palm more pills for your next migraine
You don't sleep at night
You're comfy with your own life
Go run, your feet never
Touch ground, you say I'll sleep next year
You want to scream out loud
But don't dare make a sound

Come let's take me higher than high
Where I can feel the sun
I would give everything you deny
If you would only come undone

Weather changes more
Than you allow yourself to sport
It isn't complicated
Perfection's overrated
Silence doesn't kill
But you're so afraid that it will
You need constant distraction
When is the main attraction

Come let me take you higher than high
Where you can feel the sun
There isn't anything to deny
If you would only come undone
If you would only come undone

I'll take you higher than high
If you would only come undone
Higher than high
If you would only...
Come undone, done, done

Come let's take me higher than high
Where I can feel the sun
I would give everything you deny
If you would only come undone

I'll take you higher than high

If you would only
Higher than high
If you would only come undone
I'll take you higher than high, high
If you would only
Higher than high... high
