We lock the doors at night all the sirens scream
I don't drive my car-- insurance is too high I live here in the city-- my hometown's far away
I work out with concrete I don't drive my car
The stars come out at night to see them on the strip Everybody arms themselves there's no other place like this I'll never leave the small town girl behind
The place were I come from is with me all the time Oh, You could walk the streets when the sun goes down in my little town
You don't need defenses when the sun goes down in my little town
Back home on the street-- after ten at night Mrs. Avery walks her dog, checks to see what's going on
She doesn't lock the door, she lives here in good health
You don't hear the harm when Mrs. Avery walks her dog
All I every wanted was a view of city lights Break away from here-- leave behind the quiet nights Spend half your life trying to make a change
And the other half trying to get back again You could walk the streets when the sun goes down in
my little town
You don't need defenses when the sun goes down in
my little town
Look down the road-- look up the highway Look past the fences-- look at the face
What do you have on the other side?
Yeah, Yeah, Yeah, Yeah
Yeah, Yeah, Yeah, Yeah-- oh Oh, you could walk the streeets when the sun goes down in my little
You don't need defenses when the sun goes down in my-- my town
You could walk the streets when the sun goes down in
my little town

You don't need defenses in my little town -- where I come from Yeah Yeah, in my little town
You don't need a gun-- in my little town where I come from Yeah Yeah, in my in my in my in my little town
