You left a message on the table
Kept it hangin' on my wall
Another date, two weeks later
I've been waiting for your call
I'm scared to love again, afraid that it might end
But the thought of you just won't let go

Don't say that you love me
It's too soon to know for sure
Don't say the words and leave me
Cause my heart will ask for more
Don't you say that you need me
Cause my heart will not endure
Just say it when you're ready
And I will only love you more

As we leave the world behind us
Trying to find each other's eyes
I see you blush, and we don't talk much
And you're shy to my surprise
Your kisses soon will find me
And I'm about to fall
Into you, in love with you
This day

Don't say that you love me
It's too soon to know for sure
Don't say the words and leave me
Cause my heart will ask for more
Don't you say that you need me
Cause my heart will not endure
Just say it when you're ready
And I will only love you more
Don't tell me that you love me
Until you know for sure

Don't say it now
Only words won't show me how
If I take this chance to love again
Don't take my heart and give it back again

Don't say you love me
I will love you more

Don't tell me that you love me
Until you know for sure
