Lifeline (Hans York)

Held back so long, I forgot about it, I was wrong
Too quiet and shy, didn't want to bother, wouldn't try
Alone and sad, under cover in my empty bed
Call me; slowly I remember my heart
Talk to me; come back to the square where I start again
'cause

I just received a lifeline, through storm and wind
Says I should hold on longer until you pull me in

Sundown I float, open water, deep sea, little boat
Lost track of time, tasted salty water, last supper wine
Gave up, let go, I will drown inside this cold liquid soul
Call me; slowly I remember my heart
Talk to me; come back to the square where I start again
'cause

I just received a lifeline, through storm and wind
Says I should hold on longer until you pull me in.

Holding your hand
Walking barefoot through the white diamond sand
You threw that line
Pulled me out of water just in time
Call me; slowly I remember my heart
Talk to me; come back to the square where I start again
'cause

I just received a lifeline, through storm and wind
Says I should hold on longer until you pull me in
