

Hans York

"Young Amelia"

Visit "Young Amelia" on MotoLyrics.com

Young Amelia (Hans York)

Nothing will last forever, better enjoy today
You and me walk together and I would love if you'd stay.
You came in like a whirlwind taking my life apart
Putting it back together, making it clear from the start

That you feel like a bird that is out of its cage
Glide on wings that are made for the open
That you never go back to that small-minded place
Where your dreams will be locked
Forever, never, ever, never come true

Salty wind curls your hair, colors your cheeks light red
In the spirit of young Amelia cutting through clouds way ahead
Smiling an invitation, magnet for open hearts
You're a new constellation of yet uncharted stars

I know that you feel like a bird that is out of its cage
Glide on wings that are made for the open
That you never go back to that small-minded place
Where your dreams will be locked
Forever, never, ever, never come true

Our love keeps on flowing in water that's blue and deep
Learning to live not knowing if I can dance to your beat
I wanna be your lover giving you everything
So that you need no other you'll be queen, I'll be king

And we both feel like birds flying out of their cage
Glide on wings that are made for the open
And we never go back to that small-minded place
Where our dreams will be locked
Forever, never, ever, never come true

Visit Hans York page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

