You can only push someone so far
You can only break so many hearts
It used to be love one another
But now it's lust for your lover
Baby, I was trying to burn bridges of stone

You can only wait; you can only wait so long
You can only wait; you can only wait so long
In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
'Cause you can only wait so long

There go the memories from yesterday
There goes the poetry of all those things I couldn't even say
You can only wait so long
Before your flower petals are all gone
Baby, I was trying to burn bridges of stone
You won't find me crying for what used to be home

You can only wait; you can only wait so long
You can only wait; you can only wait so long
In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
'Cause you can only wait so long

You can only wait; you can only wait so long
You can only wait; you can only wait so long
In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
'Cause you can only wait so long

Said oh, why couldn't you call out for me?
It's not like I was ever far away
Said oh, I want to dive in to the endless dark and deep
There's nothing left but a million words to say

You can only push someone so far
You can only break so many hearts
You can only wait so long
Before your flower petals are all gone

Baby I was trying to burn bridges of stone in the rain

You can only wait; you can only wait so long

You can only wait; you can only wait so long
In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
'Cause you can only wait so long

Oh, why couldn't you call out for me?
It's not like I was ever far away
Oh, I want to dive in to the endless dark and deep
There's nothing left but a million words to say

We all have memories
And I have served my time in vain
Don't give in to your enemies
They'll just leave you in the rain
We will find a way somehow
In this winding, twisting road we've found
Baby I was trying to burn bridges of stone
You won't find me crying for what used to be home

You can only wait; you can only wait so long
You can only wait; you can only wait so long
In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
'Cause you can only wait so long

You can only wait; you can only wait so long
You can only wait; you can only wait so long
In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
'Cause you can only wait so long

In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
Cause you can only wait so long
In this game we play, can't tell right from wrong
'Cause you can only wait so long
