You were smart enough to say goodbye
And God knows why I gave you reasons why
My heart was fake my words full of lies
And now I see how much I was wrong
I guess you knew it all along
My only hope is that
I'm not too late

If you could leave the light on
And help me find my way back home
I'll be on my way back into your loving arms
If you could put a smile on
And help me through the days I'm gone
I'll be on my way back into your loving arms

I'd gladly give you all I have
Or wait for years to get you back
If only just a spark of love remains
So don't give up on me just yet
I've said a lot that I regret
So until my dying day I'll make you see

If you could leave the light on
And help me find my way back home
I'll be on my way back into your loving arms
If you could put a smile on
And help me through the days I'm gone
I'll be on my way back into your loving arms
