Help. There's a girl in my bed. Thoughts are running through my head. Something must be said. I think she wants to spend the night. I don't mind but her boyfriend might, something don't feel right. I won't sleep tonight I know. 'Cause I have no self control. If she don't mind why should I say no? How far will we go? Will we take things slow? Will she like me tomorrow. Maybe it's wrong, but I'm feeling fine. 'Cause tonight I know that you'll be mine. Live for the moment, don't look ahead. 'Cause all that matters tonight is lying in my bed. Everyone else has gone to sleep. I should be counting sheep. Try hard not to make a peep. But her skin brushes against mine. Sends a shiver down my spine. Call in sick for work tonight. Find it very hard to think. Probably had too much to drink. I hope my breathe don't stink. Our lips begin to touch. I want her so much. Yeaahh. Maybe it's wrong, but I'm feeling fine. 'Cause tonight I know that you'll be mine. Live for the moment, don't look ahead. 'Cause all that matters tonight is lying in my bed.
