I'm being buried alive. Don't know if I'll survive. Can't keep my head above water. Feels like I'm drowning in my own skin, and it keeps boiling hotter. I never thought, I never guessed that my life would turn out like this. I worked so hard to walk the line. Well I guess bad lucks all mine. My walls are closing in around me. This life of mine is starting to drown me. I'm feeling like a pugilist with every new punch that I take. I can no longer hide the enthusiasm that I fake. Just once I'd like to catch a break. I don't know how much more I can take.
