Damn it why won't you get out of my head. 2:30 in the morning and I lie awake in bed. Man do I hate love but you're all that's on my mind. My pencil turns to mush from the words my lips can't find. You're ruining my pattern you ruin my routine. And now I gotta figure out who I'm supposed to be. I'm not the guy with birds dancing 'round his head. I'd rather hate the government and protest shit instead. But now I write a love song cause you're all that's on mind. My pencil turns to mush from the words my lips can't find. I kept myself closed but you let yourself in, so I finally wrote a love song congratulations you win. I hope this never happens again. I finally wrote a love song congratulations you win.
