I would walk away, today if you decide
It's just a waste of time I would take the pain
I'm so lost in you Although it feels the same that You've been gone I still held on (to you)
Help me understand why we can't amend
A little more than just good friends
That's all I wanted us to be
So tell me now then why we're here
Confused and drunk on a few beers
Never fear a million years may pass and I would still be

I would still be here
I would still be here

So if you(ve) decided to change your mind
I'll be waiting here for you without exception
Don't it bother you at all you've been acting like a wall
And I've been crashing into you with good intention
I would give a day
A week a month a life a year if it would mean you would stay
I'm so lost in you
Although it feels the same that
You've been gone I still held on (to you)
Help me understand why we can't amend
A little more than just good friends
That's all I wanted us to be
So tell me now then why we're here
Confused and drunk on a few beers
Never fear a million years may pass and I would still be

So if you've decided to change your mind
I'll be waiting here for you without exception
Don't it bother you at all you've been acting like a wall
And I've been crashing into you with good intention
