"Is This The End"

We've stood and looked right into hatred's eyes
We have to take a closer look and realize That our strength gets divided if we turn against our own
We stand united or we stand alone

We've got to make our move because there's no turning
back.
No turning back
Reach out 'cause there's no turning back
No turning back

How can we justify our own hate

We can't just sit back and deny our mistakes
How long, how long will it take?
Before we realize we control our fate

We've got to make our move because there's no
back.
No turning back
Reach out 'cause there's no turning back
No turning back

Is this the end or the beginning?
Is this the end or the beginning?
