In Birmingham, in London, what we need now is love Not hate and fear, blood and tears, what we need now
is love

Walking down my street tonight, West London style There's something in the air tonight, I haven't felt for a while
I see the fear, I see the fear in your eyes
When they keep you afraid you believe all their lies

In the county towns, in football grounds, what we need now is love
Not suspicion, division, what we need now is love
In Washington, New York City, what we need now is love
Not hate and fear, blood and tears, what we need now
is love

Walking down my street today, West London style There's something going on today, everyone's acting wild
I see the fear, I see the fear in your eyes
When they keep you afraid you believe all their lies

In Liverpool, in Glasgow, what we need now is love
Not suspicion, division, what we need now is love
In Washington, New York City, what we need now is
love
Not hate and fear, blood and tears, what we need now
is love

What we need now is love
What we need now is love

When the sun goes down, on the mill towns, what we need now is love
Not suspicion, division, what we need now is love
In Washington, New York City, what we need now is
love
San Salvador, me amor, what we need now is love

What we need now is love

What we need now is love
What we need now is love
What we need now is love
