(Come on home boy come on home)
He got a letter saying guess you don't remember me But I'm the girl that you courted before you run away to sea
You never even wrote a letter not even to your mom and dad
Now it's too late to write your daddy and your mama's feeling mighty bad
Won't you come on home boy come on home boy
Your mama's all alone since your daddy's gone Well come on home boy come on home boy your mama's mighty blue from missin' you

We caught him a train up in Frisco headin' back to Tennessee
Thinking of the mom and daddy that used to rock him on 'em knees
No more fishing in the creek with daddy no huntin' when the leaves turn brown Every turn of the wheel seemed to tell him son you kinda let us down
Won't you come on home boy...

He walked up to the cabin as it was gettin' dark So blue by the doorstep wondered why he didn't bark He called but nobody answered he looked around and then he cried Underneath the weeping willow were two crosses side by side
Won't you come on home boy...
(Come on home boy come on home boy)
Your mama's mighty blue from missin' you
