(Charlie Louvin, Ira Louvin)
Everytime you leave
You tear the soul from me
I die a little more each time we part
I can't control my dreams
My heart can't seem to learn
To run and lock it's door when you return
I know that you'll come back again
As soon as you get blue
And I know what will happen then
One kiss and I'll give in to you
Everytime you leave
You tear the soul from me
But I want to live so I'll forgive
Everytime you leave
Everytime you leave
You tear the soul from me
But I want to live so I'll forgive
Everytime you leave
