She lit a cigarette, both hands behind her back
But she was hungry with the choice of that Only you can try to see what I'm really like
She said "Only you can understand the way I feel tonight"
She blamed excesses on the American dream
So seldom witnessed, never seen
Imagination, will make a man of you
Imagination, can make me love you too
Imagination, is all I want from you
She lost her virtue before she could write
I lost mine too, on my very first night with you
You'll have to guide me, these impossible schemes
You make me steal unstealable things
She blamed excesses on the American dream
So seldom witnessed, never seen
Imagination, will make a man of you
Imagination, can make me love you too
Imagination, is all I want from you
I-ma-gi-na-tion
She blamed excesses on the American dream
So seldom witnessed, never seen
Imagination, will make a man of you
Imagination, can make me love you too
Imagination, is all I want from you
Imagination
Imagination
Imagination, is all I want from you
