Lyrics:

The first day of forever was an ordinary morning
The first day of forever seemed to happen without warning
No trumpets blare, no banner flew
The sky was undecided neither cloudy neither blue
The first day of forever was a day that fate selected
The moment of our meeting was so very unexpected
Bur our first hello made it oh so clear
That the first day of forever was here

The moment of our meeting was so very unexpected
But our first hello made it oh so clear
That the first day of forever was here
