Dog in the manger
Always a danger
You got me so so wrong
So what? So long
Don't be a stranger

It had barely started out
Before it started heading south
In the neverending story of a love
That dare not shut its mouth

I get the picture!
(Picture!)
I think I get it!
(Think? No!)
I think I know!
(No! No!)
I wish I didn't!
Still, I think I get it.

Behind the curtain
We got to flirtin'
It was a gateway drug
I know, I know
It's disconcertin'

Even now when I'm still driving by your house
When it's late at night and the lights are out
And saw somebody sneaking in your side door
What are friends for anyway?

I'm just wondering who you think
You are fooling with such a tired myth
That says some people are better off alone
Than with a stepping stone

I get the picture!
(Picture!)
I think I get it!
(Think? No!)
I think I know!

(No! No!)
I wish I didn't!
Still, I think I get it!

Why do you insist on being such a girl about it?
You said you hope we could still be friends
I doubt it.

No one owes a debt, index finger, second fret
Another song torched to warm the winter
Of our disconnect

I'm still trying to decide
Between thwarted lust and wounded pride
When I see your absence everywhere I look
And even when I close my eyes

I get the picture!
(Picture!)
I think I get it!
(Think? No!)
I think I know!
(No! No!)
I wish I didn't!

Wish I could be cool
(C-c-cool!)
Like certain people
(Lord no!)
Up in the mixture
(No, no!)
I get the picture!
(Still!)
I think I get it!
