If I could change my mind what changes would it bring
If I could change you, well it wouldn't change a thing
Well now you know and now you shouldn't be afraid
No promise have I made

Tell me a story tell me just another lie
Well I can tell you set your expectations high
Well now I've faced up to you facing me betrayed
No promise have I made

Well there's some green and there's some white and there's some gold
But brighter colors I have left you to behold
It's your good fortune there's a fortune to be paid
No promise have I made
