red leaves blow in the wind leaving home and everything it's known behind barren branches wave goodbye as the red leaves slowly die every flower stares and watches as the wind, it takes me away before, before the sun, the sun shone upon me oh now, now the wind, it takes me away it takes me away, yeah, it takes me away red leaves falling through the branches making their way to the ground blowing by the flowers sleeping no one knows the leaves are leaving every flower stares and watches as the wind takes me away before the sun, the sun shone upon me oh now, now the wind takes me away every flower stares and watches as the wind, as the wind takes me away, yeah
before, before the sun, the sun shone upon me
oh now, now the wind it takes me away!
and every flower stares and watches [x3]
(and every flower stares and watches!)
