Hard rain pours down
On the concrete
Seeps in deep below

Cold screams of the city
Are heard through the walls
Of every home

Most seek for a deeper
Meaning
Beyond their daily woes
Most see nothing more than
Black clouds it's all that
They know

We become our scars
If we let them
But all that we truly need
Is out there for the taking

We scream every word
It's brought us together
Every lasting scar
Reminds us how we got here
We scream every word
It s brought us together
Every lasting scar
Shows what it's taken to
Be who we are

Some dwell into emptiness
The hurt they claim is real
Been let down
Now it's meaningless
They find ways to conceal

Never to be seen again
Until it's all too late
And if we don't learn
From it all
Well repeat the same mistakes

We become our scars
If we let them but all that we truly need
Is out there for the taking

Every lasting scar
Shows us what it's taken to
Be who we are

We scream every word
It's brought us together every lasting scar
Reminds us how we got here

We scream every word
It's brought us together
Every lasting scar
Shows what it's taken to be
Who we are

We scream every word
Every lasting scar
Shows us what it's taken to be
Who we are
