Look again into the mirror that you despise
Keep looking over you shoulder
That shadow may not always be your own
It's living in you, on you eating you alive
It bears a striking resemblance, it bears your scars Confront the horrors of self

What no ones knows is what you fear
Those thoughts you reject
Only horror hidden in time conceals what has been lost Spitting into your own reflection, spewing hatred towards reality

Your just a speck of sand in an endless desert of agony
Horror of self
I must confront this
Confront the horror

Horrors of self
Must be confronted, to be forgiven
Horrors of self
Concealed by time, annihilate the past, let it be forgotten
Horrors of self
Must be confronted, to be forgiven
Horrors of self
Must be revealed to achieve contrition
Horrors of self
