When it all ended
There was nowhere to turn
I hid inside myself
Hoping someone would find me

That day never came
As the years passed, the pain lessened
I thought your voice was silenced forever
I was wrong

This time there's no turning back
Emerge from the doorway at the end of a
War inside my soul
There's no picking up where we left off
And there will not be a future

I've died so many times inside
I've accepted this pain
And I can't look back now
I never will

You don't know
You don't care
You never have and you never will

You don't know
You don't care
You never have and you never will

You made me realize
Everything I've ever known of love was pain
And the person you once were
Has died and rotted away

I've lived with this knife in my head
As a reminder of what I can't be
I know all I do is hate you
There is nothing you can ever say or do

You don't know
You don't care
You never have and you never will

You don't know
You don't care
You never have and you never will

You don't know
You don't care
You never have and you never will

You don't know
You don't care
You never have and you never will

You were never part of my life
And you never will be

Unloved
I was born unloved
Unloved
Break it down
