The time will come when all this stuff will be over
I'll only remember how unfair life can be
I was the one who defied laws of sanity
You were the one not far behind, ooh lucky me

I've learned something though
An unbearable truth
True friendship never dies
It just goes through eternity

Please flashback Mister God, I need you now!
Way back in time when my whole life
Drove me crazy
I don't know, I tried to lift my life off the ground
And now you pretend that this mess was just a test

I've learned something though
An unbearable truth
True friendship never dies
It just goes through eternity

I've lost a lot on my way out of misery
I kept my head up high, a smile on my face
I didn't count on anybody at the time
Awkward and shy, I should have taken a look behind!

I've learned something though
An unbearable truth
True friendship never dies
It just goes through eternity
