life, reduced to survival aimless wandering citizens scattered all over is this a virtual country?

testify to this accomplishment
jacked on the wire to thousand billion degrees
fast fiction
you have to head it off machines require embracing changes effective information spreads a million megabytes searching for the right direction it's just a program could never produce anything

fast fiction

energy of matter, overcome the binding lay down in fetal position age of intimate, exclusive relation i know this is a virtual country

fast fiction

fast fiction (x2)
