Come back home, you're all alone
Everyone is waiting for
The words to say, to make you stay
To keep you in their arms

Hold still so I can feel
The words that hurt, that hit the kills
The latest fight that last some night
Turn off the lights and leave right now

I know, I know
I'm too slow to catch you here
I know that she knows
She's running far, far from me

Come back home, pick up the phone
Or just call my name out loud
So I can hear, so loud and clear
Our time is running, running out

I know, I know
I'm too slow to catch you here
I know that she knows
She's running far, far from me

Slow down, oh no
So I can catch you now
Slow down, oh no
So we can work this out

I'm growing tired
Let's start a fire
And then we'll fall asleep
You and me, oh, you and me

I'm growing tired
Let's start a fire
And then we'll fall asleep
You and me, oh, you and me

Forget what you're not
Not what you've heard

I know where you are
I know you got burnt
I know you got burnt

I know, I know
I'm too slow to catch you here
I know that she knows
She's running far, far from me

Slow down, oh no
So I can catch you now
Slow down, oh no
So we can work this out

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried our best and you know it wouldn't last

I know it seems like we're never coming back
You tried our best and you know it wouldn't last

I know it seems like we're never coming back
You tried our best and you know it wouldn't last
