"Passengers"

We're all just passengers here
Searching for something to lead us
In a world of infinite fear
The answers rest in a loaded gun

Step back and pull the trigger
I'm ready for the end of the world
Step back, protect the liars
Broadcast this country as it falls

"You are witnessing the downfall of our civilization, where the drunk and wealthy program a series of train wrecks designed to keep our youth glued to the TV, willing them to believe that bad decisions will make you
a celebrity."

Bring on the end of the world
Face towards the cold and hungry
Bring on the end of the world
Stand up and save this country
This is our chance, our time, our turn
To build a world just to burn it down
This is our life, our blood, our scar
It's time to fight for the here and now

We're all just scavengers here
Searching for someone to feed on
In a world where vanity steers
With price tags and shopping malls

Step back and destroy your body
I'm ready for the end of the world
Step back and blur the boundaries
Broadcast this country as it falls

"You are witnessing the downfall of our civilization,
where the drunk and wealthy program a series of train
wrecks designed to keep our youth glued to the TV,
willing them to believe that bad decisions will make you
a celebrity."

Bring on the end of the world
Face towards the cold and hungry
Bring on the end of the world
Stand up and save this country
This is our chance, our time, our turn
To build a world just to burn it down
This is our life, our blood, our scar
It's time to fight for the here and now

This is our chance, our time, our turn
To build a world to burn it down
This is our life, our blood, our scar
Our time to fight for the here and now

This is our chance, our time, our turn
To build a world just to burn it down
This is our life, our blood, our scar
Our time to fight for the here and now

Bring on the end of the world
Face towards the cold and hungry
Bring on the end of the world
Stand up and save this country
