Let's runaway. Nobody has to know where.
Out of this place with all the madness,
where the world don't understand us.
We just got to get out of here.
Isn't it strange and soothing,
that I could never hide the truth from you?
Like a flower knows the rain.
Like the healer knows the pain.
All my walls you see right through.
And though at times I may trip and fall,
you pick me up when I fumble the ball.
CHORUS
Nobody knows me like you do.
Nobody feels me like you do.
With you I know I'll never lose,
cause nobody knows me,
nobody knows me like you do.
As the sun falls lightly into tomorrows hands,
we can dream under the darkness.
Feeling safe beneath the stardust,
where together we will stand.
Real friends don't fade away,
and how could I ever find someone who gets me this way?
