Speaking from experience

I know what you've been through

I know you're hurt

I have been hurt too

Love dies hard

And life goes on

Only time will tell

When to hold on

When to let go

When to forget

And I'll let it show

When you reach out

I will be there

Love finds a way

When somebody cares

Enough to hold on

We've found a flame

That moves the heart

And brings you here tonight

Looking at you

I know memories never die

Love tries so hard

And life goes on

And only time will tell

When to hold on

When to let go

When to forget

And I'll let it show

When you reach out

I will be there

Love finds a way

When somebody cares

Enough to hold on

Look at the pieces of our lives

We try to make some sense

Here you are back into my life

Both of us wondering again

When to hold on

When to let go

When to forget

And I'll let it show

When you reach out

I will be there

Love finds a way

When somebody cares

Enough to hold on
