I know that you know that we know
As plain as the stars that are shining above
And I know that you know I wait for the morning I wake up beside you my love
And all of the things that you thought you should tell me Are all that I needed to know
You told me our love was eternal
Two crazy lovers we must find a way
Hold on now baby I am on my way
Book us a ticket on the midnight train
You never know darling, they might never see us again
'Cos I know that you know that we know
As plain as the stars that are shining above
And I know that you know I wait
for the morning I wake up beside you my love
It seems like the world has been waiting to show us
A secret it's kept for so long
And oh how I know that it's love that has found us
It's found us right where we belong
Two crazy lovers we must find a way
Hold on now baby I am on my way
Book us a ticket on the midnight train
You never know darling, they might never see us again
They might never see us again
They might never see us again,
again, again, again
Two crazy lovers we must find a way
Hold on now baby I am on my way
Book us a ticket on the midnight train
You never know darling, they might never see us again
Two crazy lovers we must find a way
Hold on now baby I am on my way
It's just the beginning there can be no end
You never know darling, they might never see us again
They might never see us again
They might never see us again,
again, again, again
