

Hazel And Vine "Fly By Kite"

Visit "Fly By Kite" on MotoLyrics.com

Two steps to the left to avoid the sunshine
Lets not get caught in the shadow of a doubt
If I could I would have drained the ocean
So I, could have walked to where you are.
Save me from
What I've become
Look back on all the mess you've made up
Oh please don't look the other way
Sidewalks we share are choosing colors
And I, fear that I will walk alone
Save me from
What I've become
Don't sleep, it's never that you dream at all
And know that half of this is still your fault.
I'm not ready to cry, I'm not ready to fly
(Don't think that, don't think that)
Don't Sing, it's never that you speak at all
And hear that the grace in me is almost gone
I'm not willing to lie, I'm not willing to fight
(Don't think that, don't think that)
Two steps to the left to avoid the sunshine
Lets not get caught in the shadow of a doubt
If I could I would have moved the mountains
So I, could have climbed to where you are
Don't sleep, it's never that you dream at all
And know that half of this is still your fault.
I'm not ready to cry, I'm not ready to fly
(Don't think that, don't think that)
Don't Sing, it's never that you speak at all
And hear that the grace in me is almost gone
I'm not willing to lie, I'm not willing to fight
(Don't think that, don't think that)
Don't sleep it's never that you dream at all
And know that half of this is still your fault
Don't sing, it's never that you speak at all
And hear that the grace in me is almost gone
Hey, I'll believe anything you say to me tonight
Hey, I'll believe anything you say to me tonight

Visit Hazel And Vine page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

