Hazel O'Connor

Well the years go past far to fast for me and my heart grows cold, too cold, so cold to see and the old man waits at the door and the child inside calls out there must be more

Let there be music, dancing, music flight of fancy, music and dancing with your heart
let there be real life
let there be real life
let there be real emotion let there be real life let there be real...

Light, that light, dog gone, gone left your sight oh love them bright light, city lights, got'ya sitting pretty what you gonna do tonight when you burned out, beaten and torn let the child inside call out there must be more

let there be real life
let there be real life

let there be real life let there be real...

Why must this life be so insecure why must hide people hide behind close doors I am gonna change it today gonna open the door and I'm on my way gonna change it (real life) gonna change it (real emotion) see this girl she's on her way she gonna open the doors starting today

let there be real life
let there be real life

let there be real life let there be real...
