I woke up decided I'd find my way around this town
Foolish girl thought I'd be so lost without her

Adolescence left to wither I didn't have a choice
It was me or your silly boy
It was me or your silly boy

Why do I justify what you did wrong to me

You're love drunk
You're blinded
You've lost the ones who love you most
This liar's on fire
Melted like wax - a mess it grows

And you're the one that chose
And that's just how Karma goes

Why do I Justify what you did wrong to me

Look at me now
Look at me now
Take a look at what I've become
Don't thank yourself I'm finally someone
Look at me now
You raised me well I'll give you that
But in my face you surely spat
Would you look at me now

Why do I Justify what you did wrong to me

I'm alright
And I'm alive
And I'm just fine without you
Without you
