Johnny was a jockey, he really knew how to ride
He was the king of hearts with a queen by his side
But darkness fell too soon one day uptown
Somebody couldn't feel his love and so he shot poor
Johnny down

(He's got to) walk another mile
Walk on, walk on
(He's got to) walk another mile
Walk on, walk on
Sometimes it's hard to find a smile (walk on, walk on)
Before you get your reward you got to walk another mile
Walk on

I saw a woman in love standing in the rain
She wore a ribbon of blues, she could not hide her pain
'Cause the man she loved had to move along Leaving all his little children behind to sing his song

(She's got to) walk another mile
Walk on, walk on
(She's got to) walk another mile
Walk on, walk on
Sometimes it's hard to find a smile (walk on, walk on)
Before you get your reward you got to walk another
mile
Walk on

Some walk a mile as a beggar man
Some walk a mile as a king
Some ride in style, some crawl on the ground
But one thing's for sure, man, it all comes around

I can't remember for sure, but I believe what they say
That after you leave you travel home again some day
And the road is long with no end in sight
But you'll keep coming back until the wrongs are made right

(You got to) walk another mile

Walk on, walk on
(You got to) walk another mile
Walk on, walk on
Sometimes it's hard to find a smile (walk on, walk on)
Before you get your reward you got to walk another
mile
Walk on
