You bow your head in shame of all the things you've done
I bow my head to feel His grace and to embrace His Son
I am far, so very far of worthy of His love
They try to break me but through Him I can always rise above
And breathe

Keep your head above the water
These waves are getting taller
Pulling you down, down

Your heart it likes, the feeling of indifference fills your mind
You can't rely, recall the life of faith you've left behind
Ooh it hurts, you could almost cry

Keep your head above the water
These waves are getting taller
Pulling you down, down
Don't you know your Father
Is your way out of this water?
Pulling you down, down

Tell Him to wait
(Tell Him to wait, He's waiting for you)
He's waiting for you (To call, He will catch you and lift your head and breathe
On solid ground, He's there and waiting)

Keep your head above the water
These waves are getting taller
Pulling you down, down
He will never leave you
Don't let this world deceive you
And bring you down, down

Your head's above the water
(Keep your head above the water)

And everything seems smaller
You're not going down
(These waves are getting so much stronger)
