

He Who Never "Just Like"

I walked across the world to get out of the light,
And what I found was a different fight.
Please let me leave behind the troubles that I've made...
Would it be right to live my life at your expense?
I'm so in love with your innocence.
Don't make me come in here and take it all away.

She said,
"Can't you see I want to be just like...
Can't you see I want to be just like...
Can't you see I want to be just like...
Can't you see I want to be just like you?"

Before you, I lived like I was dangling on a string,
And I couldn't find beauty in anything.
Please let me join you in the future that I need...
Would it be right to let me live a life I hate?
I'm so in love with the one that you've made.
Don't make me stay behind and battle just to breathe."

Can't you see I want to be just like...
Can't you see I want to be just like...
Can't you see I want to be just like...
Can't you see I want to be just like...

Can't you see I want to be just like... (But I could never make you be just like)
Can't you see I want to be just like... (But I could never make you be just like)
Can't you see I want to be just like... (But I could never make you be just like) Can't you see I want to be just like you? (But I could never make you be just like me).
