Here today and gone tomorrow
Our love would always be a hit and run affair
I know you love me, but I'm just a wanderer
Today I love you but tomorrow I may not care

For absence always makes the hearts grow fonder
I get lonesome for someone's company
You're here today and gone tomorrow
And my loving you is just a fantasy

When you're gone, I wish we'd never met
For the memory remains within my heart
You're here today and gone tomorrow
We can't be happy so I think it's best we part

For absence always makes the hearts grow fonder
I get lonesome for someone's company
You're here today and gone tomorrow
And my loving you is just a fantasy
