would you expect any less from the people at the top?
for the beats, beats that go with losing any war, taking lives in their hands, stringing all the losers up.
while the winners write the history books defeated die poor more bereft of life than an old jackson pollack painting cold and alone, dead and disintegrating, before the hail of bullets there is silence, the pow i can get with this and i can see it all now it's not funny 'cause when you think you're on the a-tip you slip it must be this fucking dark winter weather, i torture myself too much anyway it's like when i'm feeling happy then i'm jealous of me you said you didn't like my voice so i kept my jaw steeled
well, people say i hold out like a holden caulfield fat mama cass it was hip automatically it's too much i shook my head spa-spa-spazmatically i erase the lines that you mend, "i've done it before", i said, "i'll do it again"

said, "i'll do it again, do it again"

don't point that thing at me unless you want to use it bark out abuses to the weakest at the back of the line it's open season on the meek and the useless but now you're staring out the t.v. with a smile on your face squint, think and squeeze when you can see me and the whites of my eyes predicting armageddon all over the place and we're really sorry for all the mistakes we made but now even if you could eat your own words you'd start a hunger strike it's easy to control us if you keep us all afraid kick sand up in my face like i'm a wheel guard on your dirt bike

the sicker the quicker, thicker, the fatter watch 'em all scatter

but here's the kicker, it doesn't matter i've got my tongue in my cheek so far it makes me mute heaven is a joke and hell is a lie, pay attention son 'cause these are words to live by now watch me kick in the teeth of the track like my mind was a steel toe boot

the undeniable is all about consumption and anyone around and all the people in the street the indescribable is up for discussion they're pointing fingers and they're whispering discreetly

"who is that man? what's he done for his homeland?" they all can see him, they know where he's going he knows their hopes will fade without the strength of his hand he feels so damn obvious that he must be glowing he is ready for his sneak attack, he's gonna go do this shit and not look back
"i have the answers for the questions y'all been asking me, i will relieve you of the burden of your six figure apathy,
i am the dynamite, i am the glue,
i never underestimate the enemy that's what you do
i never underestimate the enemy that's what you do

it's open season 'cause it's good, good, good.

it's open season on the meek and the useless
