Headstrong
"State"

my head hurts, it always hurts when i'm crowded like a brainless little piggy in an abetoire but can you really blame them for thinking and come the daylight, we'll make a monkey out of satan armageddon's swiftly making plans to crash the party at midnight?
dusty rubble under double purple suns and while the zealots start collecting two of every animal

and we'll know what we've never known we'll see what we've never seen and we'll say what we never say isn't today like any other day?

is this the legacy you choose to leave behind?
is this the legacy that you will leave me?

and pull it back, boom and surprise you're alive i can't believe we survived another new year something i don't see happening, deaf embassy of the new world order form opinions of their own on their own and this monolithic coughing fit will take it's toll
and if you think about it hard enough you can make it go away

and we'll say what we never say
and we'll see what we've never seen
and we'll know what we've never known

is this the legacy you choose to leave behind?
isn't today like any other day?

bridge (sung vocal no words)
is this the legacy that you will leave me?

you'll watch the shot glasses fly as the kids all expectorate
in a bright yellow way wailing upward at the sky down on the people walking under the bridge "control, control, control, control" in a mercy fight with time and we're losingÃ¢Â€Â¦ you'll buy and "end is near" t-shirt for thirty bucks and change

and the mothers holding babies holding bottles holding secrets

and we'll see what we've never seen
and we'll say what we never say
isn't today like any other day?
and we'll know what we've never known is this the legacy that you will leave me? (2xis this the legacy you choose to leave behind?