Down the winding alleyways of Sodo
Where the rain is painting down the streets
Where she's walking every morning, I don't know

Though her eyes are far away, she looks at you
Through her windows dark that she don't see
Secrets in her keeping solitary
Just a fading glimpse like floating out to sea

Saffronia's marked, she took the sting
She's filling the colors in under her skin
Saffronia's heart with only one wing

How can she fly?
How can she fly on a broken wing
That carries the stain of everything?
Saffronia's soul is wandering, she just walks on by

Suddenly she's standing there before you
Reaching out her arms just like a child
Her face is like a door, you wanna walk on through There's something deep inside just might belong to you

Saffronia's marked, she took the sting
She's filling the colors in under her skin
Saffronia's heart with only one wing

How can she fly?
How can she fly with a broken wing?
She carries the stain of everything
Saffronia's soul is wandering, walk on by

Hey, Saffronia's marked, she took the sting
She's filling the colors in underneath her skin
Saffronia's heart with only one wing

How can she fly?
How can she fly with a broken wing
That carries the stain of everything?
Saffronia's soul, oh yeah, she just walks on by

She just walks on by
