We walked away before
There were too many storms
We could not get through
But I still kept loving you

Now fate brought you back to me
This time I won't let you leave
I'm holding on to you
Forever
I'm never letting go

The time I spent away from you
Was time that made me see
I need to live my life with you
I need you here with me

And it would take a
Strong, strong wind
To take me from your arms again
To take me from your side

It would take a
Strong, strong wind
To pull away this heart of mine
Make us break apart this time
It would take a
Strong, strong wind

Hearts sometimes lose their way
But they find their way back someday
To the arms they need
And I need you like the air I breathe

The time I spent away from you
Was time lost in the rain
I'm meant to live my life with you
That's something nothing can change

And it would take a
Strong, strong wind
To take me from your arms again
To take me from your side

It would take a
Strong, strong wind
To tear away this heart of mine
Make us break apart this time
It would take a
Strong, strong wind

This time I'm holding on with everything
This time I won't let go for anything

And it would take a
Strong, strong wind
To take me from your arms again
To take me from your side

It would take a
Strong, strong wind
To pull away this heart of mine
It would take a
Strong, strong wind

It would take a
Strong, strong, wind
