Im afraid of your sweet wonder loving you makes me stronger but your love makes me weak if i ever lost anything so beautiful, beauty would be forever lost im afraid of the future, but im ready to shut the doors to my past

youre the reason i wake up in the morning through my uncertainty i see your light youre the warmth in my darkness, the reality of my dreams and the dreams within my reality youre the world inside my world the road of my confusion, a path of bread on a track of a thousand trails and i cant imagine tomorrow without you

im afraid to close my eyes because when i do i dont see your smile
when everything falls into a dream all i want is to see you im afraid to leave your side even if its only for a moment
i realize it only takes a second to change the world and only one second to lose it

see your smile
you
moment
i realize it only takes a second to change the world

youre the reason i wake up in the morning
