Yesterday was a new day
Tomorrow feels old
Today might be last week
And time a hoax

If there's no limit to our love
Does it mean it's like the sun?
Always shining brightly
Even if you can't tell where from

I've been watching my watch
Counting hands on the clock
I've been wanting you here
But time seemed to stop
I've been holding my breath
Finding kisses to catch
Hanging onto my pillow
Till night's gone to rest

Waiting won't exist
If there's no means to measure it's weight
We could be miles away
Weeks away but not so far apart

My heart finds the window
That opens up to yours
And time and place can't hide your face
I'm right there where you are

I've been watching my watch
Counting hands on the clock
I've been wanting you here
But time seemed to stop
I've been holding my breath
Finding kisses to catch
