Someone said there's a lost horizon
We must find a way to the throne
Take his gold and the bed he lies on
The mercy from house made of stone

Before the fall we were only dancers
Angels gliding over the floor
Time stood still
And we were sure of the answers
We waited but some wanted more

High above the world we had it all
So no one seemed to care when evil came to call and Soon we knew temptation and we sinned
Then he closed the door, we can't come back again

Before today it has a dark tomorrow
Chained and cursed to wander with men
But we've been told that its time and we must go
Dont hope less, we maybe we can

Now we're back again, we want it all
And no one seems to know that evil's come to call and
We will read temptation and you sin
Then we'll slam the door
You can't come back again

Breaking into heaven
Changing the rules
Breaking into heaven
Just a world for the fools
Oh breaking into heaven
Get ready for war
Breaking into heaven
We only want more and more and more and more

Far beneath the world we miss the sun
Why did we believe and change on everyone so
Now we're here to take away your life
So you can go forever where the next day's still tonight

Breaking into heaven
Changing the rules
Breaking into heaven
Just a world full of fools
Oh breaking into heaven
Get ready for war
Breaking into heaven
We only want more and more and more and more

We're ready for war
We're just outside your door
(Breaking into heaven)
We've just found the keys and we're
Breaking into heaven
