Tell the universe what you've done
Out in the desert with your smoking gun
Looks like you've been having too much fun
Tell the universe what you've done

Tell the universe what you took
While the heavens tremble and the mountains shook
All those life's not worth a second look
Tell the universe what you took

You've been projecting your shit at the world
Self-hatred turn at all those pay back time
You can self destruct, that's your right
But keep it to yourself if you don't mind

You've been projecting your shit at the world
Self-hatred turn at all those pay back time
You can self destruct, that's your right
But keep it to yourself if you don't mind

Tell the universe where you've been
With your blood stained shoes and your dances grim
Got to notify the next of kin
Tell the universe where you've been
Tell the universe where you've been
