irresponsible and unreflecting displacing human sense into the afterworld running after faint beliefs, where you just have to fell conceive suspicion, distrust your faith degeneration, dislocation and always hunting for the ones to lead you no aspiration, no ambition

(Refrain)
the one you hope for, the one you wait for lies in a long forgotten tomb condemned and murdered revealed and tortured we have killed him, you and I endless drifting with the stream and there will be no way to solace we've raised ourselves to gods we drank the seas and wiped away horizons just everything we loved has bled to death by our own knives

a deed, thats just too great for us there is no atonement and no forgiveness there will be
