So fucking hard to love this fading city watching the things i know die right in front of me places that were conquered years ago (turn to dust) when all our heroes are gone will we forget the things that made us struggling to remember when so much of this has change buildings boarded up will it ever be the same (so tell me) how cliché for me to sing another song about where i'm from but this is all too real to me i've been here for so long not ready for this to end this place once my enemy now i call it friend
has changed buildings boarded up will it ever be the same

FOREVER FOREVER FOREVER WE'LL HAUNT THESE STREETS
FOREVER CHASING MEMORIES WE WILL NEVER REACH
